Learn The Simple Truth About The Nature Of Reality...

New book helps you find your unique path to increased awareness and spiritual freedom

Walnut Creek, CA – (Release Date TBD) – Everyone has the capability to attain a higher state of awareness. To begin this journey of spiritual self-discovery, one must first explore life’s basic questions, such as the purpose of creation—who we really are and how we might attain spiritual consciousness. Author Chuck Coburn teaches you to think outside the box as you learn the simple truth about The Nature Of Reality...and how you can change it.

Higher consciousness is possible from a variety of points of view. In this thought-provoking book, the author presents a composite of ancient thinking and wisdom, salted with modern-day notions. He provides you with the tools to discover the structure of what is—the meta-physics of how things really work—in an easily read, non-technical summary of what is. This exploration of the purpose of creation blends up-to-date scientific research and quantum physics with conventional spiritual dogma and New Age metaphysics, with a bit of the skeptic’s point of view thrown in for good measure.

In order to truly understand who you are, you need to ponder on the very existence of God and the notion that you are an extension of His image. Follow a tour through a historical perspective of ancient belief systems, which focus on a few who claim to have reached this Higher Consciousness—from Biblical prophets to modern-day soothsayers. See how different levels of perception can coexist simultaneously, and how you can select and explore a personal reality that suits your life purpose. Examine your personal relationship with the universe and the many levels of existence. By changing your viewpoint, you can change your personal reality. Let The Nature Of Reality help you find your unique path to increased awareness and spiritual freedom.

About the Author

Chuck Coburn, psychic, teacher and TV host of Personal Pathways, stumbled on the doorway to these truths nearly thirty years ago when his life dramatically changed at precisely 6:45 on a Sunday evening in October of 1979. He suddenly began to “know things” immediately following a three-day, self-awareness EST-like seminar. Within a few hours of completing this highly charged, emotional course, this practical, logic-based businessman began to experience dramatic and unexplainable psychic events. He eventually closed down his successful construction business and became a professional psychic.
