

Chuck and Shirley Coburn:

Separate Paths Join as One

Chuck and Shirley Coburn are a team....personally and professionally. Individually they do psychic readings and dream work, but the two professions enhance each other so well that they provide a support for the other's work.

Shirley has been doing dream work for more than 5 years. As synchronicity would have it, an introductory class by Aura Edwards awakened in Shirley a fascination for dreams and what deeper meaning they hold for us. She immediately embarked on a 3 year program at the Delaney & Flowers Professional Dream & Consultation Center in San Francisco with Gayle Delaney, an internationally recognized authority on dreams. As part of her work, Shirley has appeared on a dream panel on the Oprah Winfrey Show. Shirley holds dream study classes and on-going dream groups to help you open up to your inner world and find answers.

Meanwhile, Chuck had been involved in his construction business when he attended a meeting and was encouraged to try his psychic talents. A no-nonsense business man, Chuck was skeptical, but a short induction proved to him that he had talent in this area. Through the last 15 years, he has developed his art through inner work and study with numerous teachers and masters, and decided a year ago to drop the construction work which was only bringing him hassle, to devote himself to his psychic readings.

The duo work separately and in tandem to offer new insight to their clients. Each conduct private consultations - Chuck does 90 minute reading on psychic channeling in the areas of life purpose, spiritual direction, relationships, past lives and karmic lessons, health, present situations and communication with one's guides. Shirley facilitates understanding of messages from dreams, nightmares, precognitive dreams and recurring dreams, by analyzing personal association with dream symbols and imagery. Together they hold awareness retreats and are available to speak to groups. In the fall of 1990 they are taking a group for a two week trip to Egypt on the Nile, metaphysically exploring the ancient temples and ceremonies to experience their original functions as facilitators of the major human rites of passage. The climax of the trip will be a sunrise meditation between paws of the giant Sphinx and private journey into the King's chamber of Great Pyramid of Giza to reenact sacred initiation ceremonies. The trip is organized by Visions, an international metaphysical travel agency and will be guided by Hanaa Saad, metaphysician and Egyptologist.

For more information call Chuck and Shirley at 283-2131. I have personally experienced their work and find them sincere and perceptive with contagious enthusiasm and deep levels of insight and knowledge. In an atmosphere of lightness and fun many layers of negativity can be replaced with joy and wisdom. ☆ PLP
